FEE-BASED CLASS PROPOSAL

Community Education (CE) classes are designed to meet the needs and address the interests of our community. Before you submit a proposal ask yourself two questions: 1) Is there an audience eager to attend your class? And 2) Do you have a marketing plan for your class?

Several factors are considered before CE will agree to offer and publish a class. The following are just a few questions we will ask:

- Has the community contacted the CE office looking for this type of class?
- Is this class offered somewhere else in the community, such as Parks and Recreation?
- Will the instructor agree to an hourly rate of pay or teach pro-bono?
- Is a material fee required for the student to register for the class?
- Does the instructor have evidence of a marketing plan?
- Is the instructor an expert in his/her field?

If you have a skill, talent, or knowledge you would like to share, you have developed a course, seminar or workshop and you can answer "yes" to the majority of the listed questions, then we would like to hear from you.

If you can ensure your class will draw at least 8 students you should mail this two page proposal to College of the Canyons, Community Education, 26455 Rockwell Canyon Road, Santa Clarita, CA 91355, or send as an email attachment to communityed@canyons.edu.
